The CHORALaborative Presents A Choral Confluence-a Free Concert Celebrating the Rich and Diverse Choral Arts Scene in Colorado Springs!

A Choral Confluence a unique, four-year-old collaboration among eleven local choral organizations called the CHORALaborative. A Choral Confluence will include performances by the member choirs as well as a grand performance by the 300+ voice collective. This concert will be held at 3:00pm on Saturday, October 20th, 2018 at the Pikes Peak Center, 190 South Cascade Avenue. Admission is FREE- donations will gladly be accepted.

“If you have ever wondered what it sounds like when 300+ people come together as a single choir, this is your perfect opportunity to experience it live!” says Colorado Springs Children’s Chorale director, Marcia Hendricks. “With the beautiful acoustics of the Great Hall at the Pikes Peak Center, these choirs are poised to thrill and inspire attendees.” Thanks to sponsorships from Penrose St. Francis Health Partners and other local arts supporters, this special presentation is free to the public.

The Choralaborative is a unique collaboration that brings together eleven local choral organizations including: Abendmusik, America the Beautiful Chorus, Out Loud Men's Chorus, Vocal Fusion, Colorado Springs Children’s Chorale, Colorado Springs Choral Society, Colorado Vocal Arts Ensemble, Pikes Peak Threshold Singers, Celebration Multi Cultural Ensemble, Soli Deo Gloria Chorus, and the Velvet Hills Chorus.

“The Choralaborative's mission is to celebrate the profound connection between singers and listeners, which touches our souls and unites our humanity,” shares Hendricks. “Our purpose is to encourage everyone to sing!”

Each season the CHORALaborative publishes a comprehensive calendar which highlights the season's major choral concerts as well as presents workshops and concerts celebrating the choral arts.
